There was even a little spot grain available out of Philadelphia and Baltimore for the Continent, for which shippers were seeking a rate of 9 cents a hundred pounds, nearly as low a rate as ever has been closed. There also were several orders in the market for November loading to the Mediterranean at 17 to 1742 cents.

Montreal rates remain comparatively firm, but local shippers apparently are not prepared to pay above 21 cents for one port in west Italy, whereas owners
